CAN'T PHASE MR. WOOLLEN.

The Rioters at Edinburg Couldn's Break Up His Meeting.

Evans Woollen is inclined to place less ignificance upon the riotous reception with which he was met at Edinburg Saturday night than the Journal's correspondent did. Mr. Woollen was seen yesterday afternoon. He said that upon his arrival at Edingburg he found that no provisions had en made for a committee to take charge of the meeting and he decided to carry out his programme himself. A slight forecast of the trouble that was brewing was brought to his notice early in the evening, when a mob of silverites came to the hotel where he was stopping and bombarded him with cheers for Bryan. Upon going to the hall he found the place surrounded with a howling gang of unfriendly men. He discovered that the door leading from the street to the hall was locked on the ipalde. With some trouble he got the door open. In a few moments the hall was fairly well filled. Mr. Woollen realized that most of his auditors were McKinley Republicans and he introduced himself and made his remarks accordingly.

Down in the street a tumultous noise was being made, so that Mr. Woollen had difficulty in making himself heard in the hall. At short intervals gangs of a half dozen or more men would rush up the stairway from the street, making considerable noise with their feet. After yelling for Bryan like Comanche Indians, they would as suddenly retreat. Mr. Woollen finally suspended the meeting and went to the rear of the hall, where he tried to hire several men to go down to the street door and keep people from coming upstairs to inter-rupt him. He found that the people in the hall were afraid to oppose themselves to the mob, but finally induced one man to start out in search of a night watchman. The night watchman stationed himself at the doorway, and by presenting a bold front he succeeded in preventing any more attempts to break into the meeting. He was armed with a club. After quiet was some-what secured by these tactics Mr. Woolien resumed his speech. He says that he realized nine-tenths of his audience was composed of Republicans and that he abandoned the discussion of the free-sliver question and confined his remarks to an effort to convert Republicans to the Paimer

Mr. Woollen was complimented for his plucky determination not to allow his meeting to be broken up, and while he probably did not convert any Republicans, it is believed that the moral effect of the demonstration a ainst him will have the effect of causing fair-minded Democrats to vote against the Bryan machine, Mr. Woolien is disposed to regard the incident as rather humorous. It demonstrated to him that there are few Palmer and Buck-ner Democrats in Edinburg. He says that would not like to say that the demonwas the result of preconcerted

Returns at Tomlinson Hall. Small handbills thrown around town yesterday inform the people of this city that the "steamer Defeat will leave Tomlinson Hall for a voyage up Salt river Tuesday evening, Nov. 3. The gangplank will be let down at 6 o'clock sharp. Owing to the arge number of passengers the boat will probably not leave until several hours ater." The explanation is that several enterprising people have leased the hail for that night and will have a telegraph line in the hall. Election returns will be received and announcements made of the reports as fast as they come over the wire. The hall will remain open all night and the returns will be given as long as people stay to hear

FREE COINAGE OF LIES

FORGERY OF THE FRANCIS LETTER SHOWN BY AFFIDAVITS.

The Alleged Writer of the Popocratic Epistle Proclaims the Document an Absolute Fake.

The free coinage of lies by the Popocratic managers, with the poor, discredited Sentinel as one of the most active mints for the purpose, goes right merrily on and will continue until a week from to-morrow. Earlier in the campaign, when the Journal took the trouble to look up and expose any of its falsehoods the Sentinel acknowledged them and made the plea that it had been imposed upon by wicked people with a desire to discredit it before the public-a thing that was certainly accomplished, whether it was the purpose or not. But now it has conceived the idea that a lie once told is better stuck to, even to the bitter end. On Oct. 13 the Sentinel and other Popocratic papers published what purported to be a letter from George Francis, of Pierre, S. D., making an imaginary visit to his old home in England, to one John James, of New London, Howard county, this State, wherein it was stated that the factory employes of England were being assessed to help the election of McKinley. This idea was preposterous, of course, but the Popocrats are grasping at straws and gave the story as wide a circulation as possible.

The Journal a few days later published a letter from Mr. Francis, stating that he had not been in England or outside of South Dakota all summer. This should have been a sufficient hint to the Sentinel that it was getting into deep water with the story, but it did not seem to realize the danger and on Oct. 20 returned to the mess with an engraved forgery, evidently prepared by the Popocratic State or national committee in plate form for publication in a number of papers, purporting to be a facsimile of the letter. The Journal yesterday received from Pierre the following affidavits, completely setting at rest all controversy on the subject:

State of South Dakota, County of Hughes, George Francis, being duly sworn, on oath deposes and says: I have seen and read what purports to be a copy of a letter written by me from Southport, England, dated Oct. 1, 1896, to John James, at New London, Ind. If any such letter was ever received by John James I pronounce it an entire and deliberate forgery. I am well accurated with letter learners. well acquainted with John James. Came over here from England with him in either 1879 or 1880, but we separated soon after at Streetsville, Ontario, and I have not seen him since, nor have I heard from him since about 1890, nor have I written to him since that year. I have been a resident of the city of Pierre, Hughes county, South Dakota, since 1889, and have not been in England since I first landed in America, I have not been outside the State of South Lakota this year. I have been, since my residence in Pierre, in the hotel business, and am now. I am not now and never have been in politics, though I am a Republican and expect to vote for William McKinley for President.

My father's mother was married twice in England and the second time she married a man by the name of Vaughan, and my father in England was known by his step-father's name, and so were his children, but since coming to this country I have never been known except by the name of George Francis. This is reason for the discrepancy between the affidavits of the two brothers, John and Thomas James, in In-diana. Thomas James knew me by the name of George Vaughan—he left England long before I came—and John James knew me by the name of George Francis—he came over here with me. came over here with me. The letter purported to have been writ ten by me is false. The facsimile of which has been sent me looks nothing like my writing, nor can I imagine who it was written by, but the writing John James very much but the writing resembles that of GEORGE FRANCIS. Subscribed and sworn to before me this 23d day of October, 1896. S. G. DE LAND, Notary Public, S. D. State of South Dakota, county of Hughes, we, the undersigned, citizens and rest-dents of Pierre, Hughes county, South Da-kota, being duly sworn on oath, depose and say as follows: with George Francis and know of our own knowledge that he has been a resident of this city for the past seven years. That during all of said time he has been in busness here and for the past six years has been proprietor and manager of the North-western Hotel in this city. That during said time the said George Francis has not been absent from this city more than a few days at a time. That during all of the present year said Francis has not been away from this city at all. We further take pleasure in testifying that said George Francis is a man of reliability and that his reputation in this community is good.

Notary-Public, Pierre, S. D.

Accompanying these "documents in evidence" is a note from Mr. Francis in his own handwriting, which does not in the least resemble the chirography of the forged letter printed by the Sentinel Oct. 20. Whether the Sentinel has again been "imposed upon" or whether it has gone into the publication of forgeries with its eyes open and is endeavoring to brazen the thing out for another week is a matter of comparatively small importance to the public. The main point is the proof of the utter falsehood of the alleged Francis

THE NORTH-SIDE INCENDIARY. Two More Fires in the District Early Yesterday Morning.

Early yesterday morning there were two more fires in the neighborhood which for months has suffered from the work of a firebug-that district lying between Seventh and Morrison streets, on the north and south and Alabama and Illinois streets on the east and west. The fire department was first called to the corner of Meridian and Fifth streets to extinguish a blaze in the rear of D. P. Erwin's residence, at 710 gold and silver can be maintained only by North Meridian street. A small shed standing to the north of the large stable was totally destroyed, and the fire communicated to a shed on the lot adjoining to the north. owned by Charles Frazier. The latter evening, and in Greenleaf's Hall, North Inproperty was only slightly damaged. That the fire was of incendiary origin there is There was nothing in the hed or about it that could have started a fire. This fire was scarcely extinguished when when an alarm was sounded from Box 28, one square east. The stable of Harry E. Drew, at 705 North Pennsylvania street, was burning at a furious rate. The fire started in the hay loft and had a pretty fair start when the fire department arrived. It also spread to an adjoining stable, the property of James Falley, which was slightdamaged. The vehicles and horses in both stables were taken out. Several months ago fires in this part of the city were of almost nightly occurrence, and robberles were also frequently report-ed. A WAIT FOR POLICE SURGEON.

It Was Four Hours Before Baker Received Attention.

Lee Baker, aged nineteen, a barber on Wabash street near Alabama, was knocked down and brutally kicked about the head by Edward Ensley, a laborer, aged twentytwo, about 7:30 o'clock last night. Baker and Ensley were together in a crowd near the corner of Market and Alabama streets at the time and both were somewhat intoxicated. Ensley, who lives in West Indianapolis and bears a reputation as a fighter, called Baker a "daisy." Baker resented the name and an argument followed, in which Baker was knocked down by Ensey. Bystanders told the police that Ensey then kicked Baker viciously in the head three or four times. Both were arrested They were taken to the police station at 8:15 o'clock and Dr. Courtrey was sent for to dress Baker's injuries. In the back part of his head was a gash two inches long, and his nose and lip were swelled to twice their natural size, while blood had turned his face red. Dr. Courtney did not arrive until 12:05 o'clock, and the boy was forced to remain in the little waiting room in the rear of the station waiting for him, while the blood dried and his wounds became painful from swelling. He waited four hours for medical assistance. Bad feeling has existed between Ensiey and Baker for

CAMPAIGN OF MR. MOUNT

FARMER CANDIDATE FOR GOVERN-OR HAS DONE VALIANT WORK.

His Wide Influence Among the Tillers of the Soil-Speeches in Company with General Wallace.

The Republicans of Indiana have congratulated themselves over and over again during this campaign over the fortunate turn in the State convention that gave the nomination for Governor to James A. Mount. Mr. Mount had made an ideal candidate, and it is freely predicted that he will make one of the best Governors Indiana has ever had in time of peace. With a clean public and private record, with a reputation for wide reading and a high order of intelligence, he started into the campaign with the respect and esteem of every man who knew him. He is coming out of it with that esteem increased to genuine admiration and with a reputation and following that are bound to make him a force of much magnitude in the future politics of Indiana.

He has made a marvelous campaign. Beginning a week after the St. Louis convention, he has spoken almost daily and often twice a day up to the present, and will continue to do so until Saturday evening. He had no sooner been nominated than the campaign took such a turn that it was the farmer that the party was most anxious to reach, and in this condition of affairs it was most fortunate that it had a farmer to bear its standard, for Mr. Mount, though he has never made any demagogic parade of the fact, is a farmer who farms. He has made his livelihood and reared his family by farming, starting with nothing, and his life has largely been devoted to practical study in the effort to better the condition of farming. Such time as he could spare from the hard work necessary to the successful conduct of his irm has been given to acquiring this sort of knowledge and the dissemination of it among the other farmers of Indiana by cturing at farmers' institutes. No man in the State is better acquainted with the conditions surrounding the farming industry in Indiana than he, and it is doubtful if any man has so large a personal acquaintance among the farmers as he. When it is remembered that Mr. Mount is a iogical thinker and a clear, forcible talker, it will readily be seen that he com-bines the elements of an ideal candidate in a campaign that appeals largely to the sturdy farmers of Indiana for its support. When he began his campaign Mr. Mount asked to be assigned to the country dis-tricts and small towns, holding that theory hat has since been amply proven true that business vote of the larger towns cities would take care of itself. He has talked to the farming communities in a more effective way than a man who had not lived their life could possibly do, and the people have come in droves to hear him, to applied him and to be convinced that he was talking for their best interests. Wherever one goes in rural Indiana he will hear "The day Mount was here" spoken of as a red-letter day for Republicanism, and he will find a trail of the highest culogy of his work by the country press all over the State. In his speeches he has argued the financial question simply and clearly, has appealed to the love of country and desire for good government that lies in the reast of every farmer, and has, in a kindly and dignified way, exposed the fallacies and dangers of the Chicago platform. During this last week of the campaign Mr. Mount will speak in company with General Lew Wallace. The great author of "Ben-Hur" has for years been the neighbor and friend of the Republican nominee and it was not surprising that he should tender his services in assisting Mr. Mount in a personal way. They will speak together to-day at Rochester, to-morrow at Ango-la, Wednesday at North Manchester, Thursday at Huntington, Friday at Tipton and Indianapolis and Saturday at Shelby-

KENTUCKY FOR M'KINLEY. Some Observations of W. L. Taylor

Along the Ohio River.

William L. Taylor returned yesterday aft-

Saturday Mr. Taylor went from Vevay to Cincinnati by boat, and found a large number of Kentucky people on board. The boat was compelled to tie up over night on account of the fog, and during the evening there was considerable exchange of political comment in the cabin, and Mr. Taylor found that nearly all the Kentuckians were for either Mc-Kinley or Palmer, and did not hesitate to so express themselves. A Mr Curtis, a well-known horse breeder of Danville, Ky., who has always been a Democrat, insisted that Mc Kinley would carry Kentucky by a big majority. WIND-UP OF ORATORY

Part of the State-The Commit-

If there is a township in Indiana that has been overlooked by the Republicans in arranging meetings for this last week of the campaign they would be glad to have it pointed out. In no past campaign has such an array of oratorical talent been thrown into the State during one week of the campaign. The final onset against the forces making for cheap money and dangerous doctrines of government is being made with a vigor and earnestness that is carrying all before it and closing in splendid fashion the hardest-fought campaign Indiana has known for years. The feature of this week will be General Harrison's second two days' trip in Indiana, which will occur Friday and Saturday, and will extend through the northeastern portion of the State. There was a strong desire on the part of the Republicans of the Ninth congressional district that the trip be extended through three days, in order that it might include a part of the Ninth district. General Harrison appeared to be willing and anxious to give another day to the campaign, but found that his business engagements were such that it would be impossible for him to give Thursday to the work. With the completion of this trip General Harrison will have made fifty-five speeches during the campaign. The train that will carry the party will leave the Union Station at 9 o'clock and during the first day stops will be made at Greenfield, Knightstown, Anderson, Muncie, Winchester, Portland, Geneva, Decatur and Fort Wayne. Anderson, Muncie, Winchester and Portland will be given the most time, and at these points local committees are preparing for blg demonstrations. The train will reach Fort Wayne at about 6:30 Friday night, and General Harrison will deliver a short speech from the train and will then proceed to Auburn.

The second day will begin at Auburn, with a speech early in the morning. The second day will include speeches at the following points: Waterloo, Kendallville, Ligonier, Goshen, Warsaw, Columbia City, North Manchester, Wabash, Marion, Summitville and Alexandria, Goshen will be the favored point, with a stay of some length. A SYMPHONY REHEARSAL

FIRST CONCERT OF ITS KIND IN IN-DIANAPOLIS TO-NIGHT.

The Orchestra of Fifty-Eight Pieces Almost Entirely from This City-Character of Works Undertaken.

To-night the first Indianapolis symphony concert, conducted by Karl Schneider, will be given at the Grand Opera House. After the first full rehearsal yesterday afternoon Mr. Schneider expressed himself as very well satisfied with the prospects for a real treat to music lovers of Indianapolis tonight. Yesterday, for the first time, the symphony orchestra rehearsed with the soloists, Hugh McGibeny and Mrs. Carolyn Winter Goetz. The orchestra is composed of well-known music teachers and musicians of Indianapolis, and is amateur in the sense that none of the players are employed in playing for theaters, with the exception of eighteen musicians who have been engaged for the occasion from the orchestras of the Indianapolis theaters and four musicians from Cincinnati, who are to arrive in time for the final rehearsal this afternoon. There are thirty-six pieces in the regular orchestra, which, with the twenty-two professionals engaged for the concert to-night, will form an orchestra of fifty-eight pieces. After the rehearsal yesterday afternoon, which included Hugh Mc-Gibeny's rendition of "Otello Fantasie" for the violin, by Ernst, with orchestra accompaniment, and Mrs. Goetz's aria, will be better acquainted with the work of the orchestra, there is no doubt that a really artistic concert will be rendered to-Mr. Schneider is something of an enthuslast, and seems determined to make the Symphony Orchestra a permanent addition to the musical features of Indianapolis With a deprecative gesture Mr. Schneider declared that whether the concert is a financial success or not to-night it is his intention to make the Symphony Orchestra a permanent thing. He declares that when once undertakes an enterprise he carrie

Many expressed the opinion that Mr. McGibeny is one of the finest violinists in Indianapolis, and the work of the orchestra was also greatly commended. On the advice of director Schneider.
